

Spiritual

Geography opens pupil's imagination to the world around them. It provides opportunity for pupils to reflect on the wonders of our world and to celebrate uniqueness through diversity.

Moral

Geography supports moral development by giving pupils to opportunity to explore other cultures, ethical issues and to consider the different principles by which people live.

Social

Geography supports the understanding of citizenship and the respect of diversity within modern society. Enabling pupils to recognise the responsibility they have to their own community and the wider community.

Cultural

Geography supports cultural development by helping children to understand their own culture as they learn about their local environment.

It also enables them to appreciate the culture of others as they learn about different communities around the world
